

Britton Nelson

Dr. Rinehart-Kim

BIOL 303

January 18, 2018

Writing Assignment 1

The first article, Overcoming the Undesirable CRISPR-Cas9 Expression in Gene Correction, is a primary article. This is because of the distinct sections that this article has. This article has an introduction, materials, results, discussion, and a references section. This article is also reporting on new research findings.

The second article, Delivery Strategies of the CRISPR-Cas9 Gene-Editing System for Therapeutic Applications, is a review article. This article summarizes research already conducted by other experiments. This article did not report on conducting an experiment or study and the conclusions drawn at the end were from data gathered from other studies and experiments.