

Researchers use this to study branches because it informs you about data privacy and what they are fighting for. It also helps researchers because it shows them how to utilize such data to analyze trends, and patterns.