

I remember seeing this short clip go viral on tiktok a few months ago, and captions would basically say like me while something tragic is happening. And I feel like that's me at this point of the semester of cell biology. I'm simply trying to remain calm and collective and pray my grade holds up. I've done well in this class so far this semester but the mc portion of the exam typically gets me because I do better at explaining rather than seeing multiple options.

Full Length Video: <https://www.youtube.com/shorts/55hIv--gH3I>